

Dressing Up Ideas for Parents

Join us on Thursday 07 March to celebrate reading. At Seaford Head School, as part of our World Book Day celebrations, we are inviting Years 7-13 students to attend school in a book-themed costume.

Dressing up is a fun, engaging and effective way to encourage students (particularly reluctant readers), to be thoughtful and reflective about reading, and to celebrate all the joy it has to offer. It can help students to express their personal reading preferences, share reading recommendations and generate reading-focussed discussions. The main goal is that our students feel included and inspired to read. Students who do not wish to participate in this dress up must instead wear school uniform.

Students will be asked to bring in a £1 donation, which will go towards fundraising for one of our local, house-selected charities: Children's Cancer. As some of you may know, this holds special significance for many, but especially one of our English teachers, Ms Kyprianou, whose daughter fought Hodgkin's Lymphoma last year.

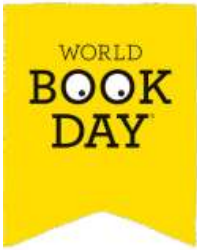

We are aware of the challenges posed by the cost-of-living crisis, so below are some creative, DIY suggestions put together by our lovely librarian, Mrs Callard, that are cheap and easy options.

Head down the rabbit hole as

Alice in Wonderland

or stand out in the crowd as Where's Wally!

Dressing Up Ideas for Parents

Katniss Everdeen costume from
The Hunger Games

Matilda

Skulduggery Pleasant
& The Bolds

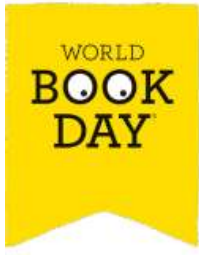

Tinkerbell & Peter Pan

Wizard Gandalf

The Cat in the Hat

Dressing Up Ideas for Parents

Nancy Drew

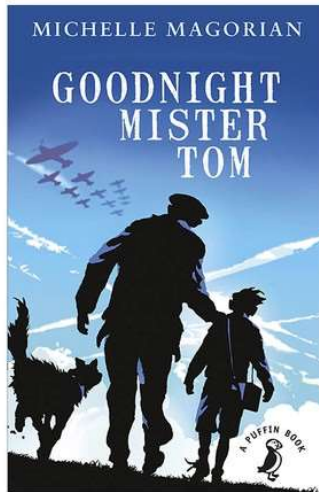

Queen of Hearts

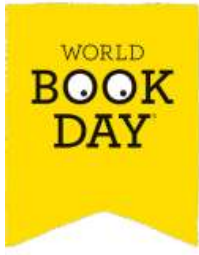

Luna Lovegood

William Beach from Goodnight Mr Tom

Wednesday Addams

Dressing Up Ideas for Parents

Mary Poppins & Bert

Harry Potter & Hermione

Diary of a Wimpy Kid

Dorothy

Sherlock Holmes

Gangsta Granny